William Toliver killed George Reeves, Jr. in 1811. He was not convicted of the killing. It was called justified. The History of Western NC by John Preston Arthur says that "Tradition says that Tolliver was acquitted at Wilkesboro on the ground that Reeves had attempted liberties with Tolliver's wife." George Reeves was a tax collector. Dennis Smith, a descendant, says that George was taking horses for taxes and William thought he was stealing the horses and shot. Earlier William had had a horse stolen by Paul Collins. The jury found him not guilty of the felony and murder as charged, but guilty of the felony of manslaughter. His punishment was to "be burned on the brawn of the left thumb with the impression of the letter M and that the Sheriff of this county carry this sentence immediately into execution in the presence of the Court." He was imprisoned for 3 years and fined 1000 pounds. Dennis says that he sold his land to his brother-in-law, Joseph Doughton, after he got out of jail and then left NC.

In 1811 George Reeves, Sr. died.

It is possible that William is living with Susanna in 1830. There is a 50-60 year old male in the household of Susanna Toliver.
